UPVC SLIDING SASH WINDOWS

The Admiral Authentic sliding sash window combines an authentic period feel with modern engineering that provides high insulation and virtually zero maintenance.

Unlike many PVC windows the Authentic Sash comes without any welded joints. Everything is mechanically jointed as with original timber window construction.

Slim sightlines are achieved by internal strengthening of the frames and features include the option of run-through horns as found on period windows.

Externally the glass surround is similar to a flat putty line and inside the sections are subtly moulded to match any optional astragal glazing bars.

Although it is a PVC frame the Authentic Range has a Woodgrain finish as standard and is available coloured to suit if required.

Insulated glazing and frames provide 'A' rating thermal efficiency as standard as well as excellent acoustic performance.

All Authentic Sash windows tilt inward for ease of cleaning and safety.

Secured by Design accreditation means you are specifying one of the most secure windows available in the UK
